Caro coordinatore e colleghi presidenti,

Giro per vostra informazione l'invito rivolto anche ai non giovani della commissione Giovani New York e Connecticut al sollecito a far parte della loro organizzazione informando che ufficialmente sono riconosciuti dal governo Italiano. Non certo rappresentano la commissione giovani del com.it.es. di New York e Connecticut, in quando furono diffidati un anno fa'. Ma allora di che cosa parliamo? Di un vera organizzazione politica?

Gentilmente, chiedo a voi tutti di intervenire e calmare questi signori che si spacciano come rappresentanti dei com.it.es. degli Stati Uniti

Allegato:

Commissione Giovani New York (Italian Youth Commission of NY) is an organization founded by young Italians and Italian-Americans, officially recognized by the Italian government; which aims to preserve and promote both the Italian language and heritage. We welcome all interested parties, as we will focus on three major topics: Italian—Americans, Italians in America and those fascinated with Italy. Commissione Giovani New York (CG NY) will promote/highlight : current events; politics; business; technology; sports; arts; culture; social; style and travel.

CG NY was born after the “Conferenza dei Giovani Italiani nel Mondo” held in Rome in December 2008. Present were 400 young Italian professionals coming from all over the world, who were chosen to participate in an intensive week to discuss issues concerning young Italians worldwide aimed to satisfy the life style of “being Italian” in the 21st century.

With CG NY’s first heartbeat, Com.It.Es., CGIE and all other Italian institutions have fully supported us to achieve our goals.

In February we were proud to organize and host the Miss Italia nel Mondo – NY selection, at the posh “Nikki Beach”, and we were delighted to see our winner Christina Marracini become the new Miss Italia America 2009. This evening of culture and beauty created a profound rapport between CG NY, judges and participants. We want to thank all the girls that participated in the contest: Alaina, Ligeia, Veronica, Tania, Veronica, Lisa, Laura, Milena, Margherita, Stefania, Maryla and Teresa.

After the tragic and fatal earthquake that struck L’Aquila on April 9th 2009, CG NY rapidly reacted to the news. In just three days we hosted a prosperous event which was held at Cipriani Club 55 Wall Street; in collaboration with our sister CG NJ, our fundraiser solicited over 800 guests to the cause and collected over $31,000 in one night alone. The money collected, in joint effort with the other Commissione Giovani associations, will be donated to those suffering as a result of this natural disaster.

We want to welcome all of our participants with a Membership Card in an effort to create an intimate community within NYC. CG NY’s membership card will allow participants to: use our services, be able to participate at our events and be offered discounts and service packages from restaurants, hotels, shows, and other events within NYC. Please contact one of the board directors for an updated list of the CG NY deals and “membership card terms and conditions”.

CG NY welcomes all inquiries and concerns. Please send your thoughts and feedback to newyork@cg-usa.org

The Commissione Giovani New York and Connecticut (Italian Youth Commission of NY and CT) is an organization of young Italians and Italian-Americans, officially recognized by the Government of Italy, with the goals to preserve and promote the language and cultural heritage of Italy.

We welcome all to participate as we focus on three major groups: Italian—Americans; Italian living in America; and Non—Italians who have an interest in all things Italian.

Furthermore, we will focus on three major topics: Italian—America; Italian in America; and Italian in Italy.
